SSB Wägetechnik delivers Belt Thrower to the USA

Edited by on 6. Feb. 2024

Buchholz, Germany –

For a major petrochemical customer from South Carolina in the USA, we have manufactured two belt throwers (GWS 2000) for the best possible and most effective filling of plastic pellets into containers.

Special guidelines and standards apply in many places in the USA. SSB Wägetechnik has acquired machine certifications in accordance with UL standards in order to be able to serve customers in the USA.

Careful preparation and compliance with all relevant regulations, including during transport, are a matter of course for SSB and our many years of experience help to ensure that machines are shipped internationally.

In about 2 months, the next belt throwers will go to another customer in North Carolina/ USA.
