Commenting, Brian Done, Brine & Water Sustenance Projects & Commissioning Manager, INOVYN, said, “We have a long-standing relationship with Ajax Equipment and have always been served well by them. The benefits achieved for our business have been significant over time.”

“We are always happy to have customers return to Ajax. When INOVYN approached us to evaluate how their dissolving tanks could be best be supplied we carried out a site visit to assess and establish design layout work,” says Eddie McGee, managing director, Ajax Equipment. “Ajax then worked with INOVYN to develop, produce and install an effective and efficient handling system for this challenging application. The contract included installation of the new equipment, which was carried out whilst ensuring plant feedstocks were maintained.”
