"Waste Management Intelligence"

Residuos Expo has established itself as the only forum specialized in waste management that brings together owners of waste-generating companies, researchers, government representatives, as well as chambers and associations of the sector seeking machinery, products and services for the management of hazardous and non-hazardous waste, special handling and municipal solid waste.

An exhibition where you will find solutions for the collection, handling, confinement, destruction, recovery, recycling, transformation and commercialization of waste that will allow you to make your business more competitive and profitable or to start a business in the sector.
