Dr Ulrich achieved a successful track record as Chief Executive Officer of Linde Hydraulics for more than 10 years in carving out, transforming and expanding the company globally to become a tier 1 supplier in its industry. Joerg worked extensively on value creation in the private equity environment, most recently as Chief Transformation Officer at TK Elevator.

Keith Cochrane, CEO Schenck Process Group, comments: "Dr Ulrich's skills and experiences will be of significant support for Schenck Process's future international growth and transformation journey driving smarter material processing solutions for its customers in a sustainable circular market environment.”
