

Company News

Acmon Data and Rodoula expand Partnership with comprehensive TracePro Integration

Edited by on 9. Aug. 2023

Schimatari, Greece –

Acmon Data have announced the expansion of its partnership with Rodoula, a company active in food service specializing in frozen dough and sweet delicacies. After successfully utilizing TracePro for their order management and fulfillment processes for nearly 15 years, Rodoula has entrusted Acmon Data to upgrade and integrate the comprehensive functionality of TracePro across their entire organization.

Rodoula has experienced substantial growth in recent years. Today with two production facilities, two distribution centers in Thessaloniki, a resolute packaging and storage unit spanning 15,000 square meters, and a fleet of twenty-five freezer trucks, Rodoula is one of the leading and most established food producers both domestically and internationally.

Under this new initiative, TracePro will enable Rodoula to effectively track stocks of raw materials, packaging materials, and finished products, seamlessly interfacing with their existing ERP system. The integration will span across Rodoula's three factories and eight warehouses, revolutionizing their operations.

"With our long-standing partnership, we are excited to take our collaboration with Rodoula to new heights," said Iasonas Polydoros, Senior Business Analyst at

Acmon Data. "The implementation of TracePro across their entire organization demonstrates our commitment to delivering cutting-edge technology solutions that drive operational efficiency, accuracy, and productivity."

The full integration of TracePro will unlock new possibilities for Rodoula, empowering them to streamline their operations and further elevate their offerings. This investment in advanced technology underscores Acmon Data's dedication to continuous improvement and providing exceptional service to their esteemed customers.

"We are thrilled to continue our partnership with Rodoula as we strive to exceed customer expectations and solidify their position as a market leader," added Stavros Valianos. "With over 20 years of worldwide experience in production and warehouse management systems, Acmon Data brings a wealth of technology and global know-how to the domestic market. By combining our expertise in implementing TracePro with Rodoula's state-of-the-art facilities and reliable fleet, we are exceptionally positioned to deliver unparalleled quality. Our solutions not only enhance productivity and ensure traceability but also lead to reduced production costs and increase production efficiency."

Acmon Data and Rodoula are excited about the prospects this collaboration brings to bakery and pastry industry. By leveraging cutting-edge technology and expertise, both organizations are committed to raising the bar and setting new standards in the field.